

Why Choose an Integrated Management Solution ?

NETHRIS[®]

An integrated management solution will bring together applications that can be used to manage all aspects of an operational activity.

An integrated management solution combines modular applications and features a single shared database managing an entire company's business processes (payroll processing, human resources management, time and attendance management, etc.). Here are some good reasons to choose an integrated management solution...

- Efficiency. Avoid duplicates and preserve data integrity at all times by eliminating synchronization, often a source of errors and delays;
- Full integration. A single point of access, a single database, a single invoice and a single Customer Service Centre;
- Uniform interface. Standardized functions and a uniform interface mean less time and effort needed to become familiar with the application;
- Productivity. Increase the productivity of each of your work sessions by performing all your human capital related management tasks (human resources, payroll preparation and time and attendance) in a single solution;
- Centralized management tools. Complementary management tools (report production, data export to an accounting application, etc.) are fully integrated into the solution;
- Transparent updates. Your company is growing and you want to acquire new modules? The new functionalities will not require any data conversion.
