

Why Let a Specialist Handle Your Payroll Processing ?

NETHRIS[®]

Outsourcing is a strategic move for many companies because of the great advantages it affords.

Outsourcing involves contracting out low-return administrative tasks that are not central to an enterprise's success and competitive ability but that require a great deal of resources. For many companies, outsourcing is a strategic choice with a number of benefits. Here are some good reasons to outsource payroll processing...

- Cost reduction. Reduce your costs by freeing up resources and allowing them to focus on strategic activities. Additionally, save on banking fees resulting from issuing cheques and making current account transactions;
- Peace of mind. Simplify your work by delegating the production of cheques, pay slips, records of employment and tax slips, as well as the payment of government remittances;
- Expertise. Get direct access to specialized payroll and HR resources; a dependable source of information you won't find in the office;
- No significant investment. No need for costly investments in IT equipment or the maintenance associated with software solutions;
- Cutting-edge technology. Take advantage of cutting-edge technology and always use the latest version at no additional cost;
- Compliance with provincial and national laws. Save hundreds of hours annually on the necessary legal control to ensure that your enterprise is compliant with pay-related legislation.
